Resort Overview

Just a putt away from the Golf Club at Terra Lago, offers unlimited options for fun and relaxation. Located in Greater Palm Springs, Indio is one of eight desert resort cities of the Coachella Valley offering a vast array of things to do in year-round sunny weather.

Rest and recreation is a priority at the Mediterranean-style resort, you can float aimlessly down the "Lazy River" or dive into the 4,950-square-foot pool. Or soak in one of three courtyard whirlpools. The more active can tackle the tennis courts or play a game of hoops on the sport courts. When it's time to take it inside, make a beeline for the recreation center. Pool tables, Ping Pong, foosball, and a fitness center (plus a lot more) are just waiting to be used. Golf anyone? This is where it's at. A few popular courses, out of more than 120 throughout the Coachella Valley, include the Tahquitz Creek Golf Resort in Palm Springs, PGA West in La Quinta, and, of course, The Golf Club at Terra Lago (formerly Landmark Golf Club), located right outside your door.

This resort is comprised by 453 units and stretching 27 acres. Each unit looks out to either the pristine golf course or to the smoky snow-capped mountains surrounding the valley. And inside, you might feel as if you stepped onto the set of Casablanca. Muted natural tones of greens, mauves, browns, and beige mimic those of the surrounding desert, while leaf motifs and accents of rattan conjure a tropical feel.
